

OGE/GOVT 1.	The Ethics in Government Act of 1978, as amended, requires the Department's Designated Agency Ethics Official (DAEO) to maintain, review, and make publicly available financial disclosure reports for certain present and former Government employees, including special Government employees, whose positions are classified above GS-15 of the General Schedule or an equivalent rate of basic pay equal to or greater than 120% of the minimum rate of basic pay for GS-15; officers or employees in a position determined by the Office of Government Ethics to be of equal classification to GS-15 or above; Administrative Law Judges; excepted service employees in positions that are of a confidential or policymaking nature; and members of a uniformed service whose pay grade is at or in excess of O-7 under section 201 of title 37, United States Code. This system may also include other documents pertaining to participation in ethics training and to the review or resolution of any conflicts of interest occasioned by review of the forms or information presented to the DAEO.
OGE/GOVT 2.	The Ethics in Government Act of 1978, as amended, requires the Department's Designated Agency Ethics Official (DAEO) to maintain and review confidential financial disclosure reports for certain present and former Government employees, including special Government employees, whose positions are classified at GS-15 or below of the General Schedule prescribed by 5 U.S.C. 5332, or the rate of basic pay for which is fixed, other than under the General Schedule, at a rate which is less than 120% of the minimum rate of basic pay for GS-15 of the General Schedule; members of a uniformed service whose pay grade is less than O-7 under 37 U.S.C. 201; and officers or employees in any other position determined to be of equal classification, including all special Government employees unless otherwise required to file a Public Financial Disclosure Report. This system may also include other documents pertaining to participation in ethics training and to the review or resolution of any conflicts of interest occasioned by review of the forms or information presented to the DAEO.
Patent Records Data Base.	The Office of the Assistant General Counsel for Technology Transfer and Intellectual Property uses a commercially available data base management software program called PC Master™ to maintain patent related information. The data base includes information from DOE contractors and Government employees relating to patents, trademarks, and licenses. The data is stored under a series of docket numbers. Current information on dockets is entered from headquarters and from field offices. Current information includes the status of inventions, attorney comments and data received from U.S. Patent Office after a patent application or trademark is filed. Data in the data base is not accessible to the public and is accessible within DOE only with a user ID and password. The data is considered confidential and is protected from public release by statute.
